

Football Video Scout

12Man is a football agency founded by the former English Premier League and Spanish La Liga footballer Frédéric Kanouté. The agency specialises in talent identification and youth football development and is seeking to recruit a talented Video Scout to complement its multidisciplinary team.

Key Responsibilities:

- Performing video analysis tasks proactively and reactively to support needs of clients.
- Assisting in maintenance and provision of data and video integrated reports including output reports and/or presentations.
- Watching video footage of matches from selected leagues as assigned.
- Compiling detailed scout reports on specific players, containing quantitative and qualitative data and observations.
- Providing reports of match and training footage using various platforms.
- Measuring and interpreting key data and metrics, develop and create interactive reports and presentations to support player and team development.
- Supporting the opposition scouting process with reports, videos (cuts) and key metric information.
- Researching and maintaining an up to date understanding of new technologies and presentation methods.
- Supporting the Individual Development Plan (IDP) process with relevant metrics / graphics and video.
- Other similar tasks.

Qualifications & Experience:

- Experience in utilising various sports analysis software and technology.
- Minimum UEFA B Coaching Badge (or equivalent), to demonstrate your understanding of football.
- Applied experience as a video scout (or similar role).

Position: Part-time

Work Location: Remotely from anywhere in the world

Fee: Negotiable

Language: Must speak English (required)